Welcome and Highlights

Dr. Peter Hlebowitsh:
• Dr. Hlebowitsh opened the meeting

Dr. Susan Carvalho:
• Discussion of the strategic plan for UA Graduate Education, which includes increasing both the quality and number of graduate students enrolled
• Shared the belief that the CCBP Council can help her with the discussion of the Graduate School’s “grand challenges,” (reference to the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation)
• Discussion of what will draw additional prospective students to UA now more than ever before:
  o Noted the importance of students understanding not only what they would do, but also why they would do it o Noted the importance of having activities in place that allow students the opportunity to speak outside of their jargon and learn to talk to real people about what they do o Noted that the Graduate School can help teach students about how what they are doing impacts the community
  o Noted that they also hope to create additional graduate program offerings to help raise the enrollment numbers

Dr. Samory Pruitt:
• Update on the Engagement Scholarship Consortium (ESC) Conference:
  o The ESC Board met Sunday evening and Monday prior to the beginning of the conference to approve the ESC Strategic Plan. The plan was approved unanimously o A handout was provided that gave a brief update on the conference
  o There were 31 UA delegates in attendance at the conference, which was held in Omaha, Nebraska
  o Key points that will impact UA include:
    ▪ Growing ESC to 100 institutions by 2020 (from the current 38)
    ▪ Goal is to host state and regional conferences in addition to the larger national conference, which could mean hosting more conferences in Alabama. (We are looking to see if there is a way to utilize multi-state grants around the topic of Engaged Scholarship.)

Alabama TOP Program
Dr. Tania Alameda-Lawson and Dr. Michael Lawson (with Dr. Andrew P. Richards and student Victoria Shiver):
• Discussion of the Alabama TOP Program:
  o Two fundamental problems of education:
    ▪ The fastest-growing populations in the U.S. are those who are underserved by schools
    ▪ Less than 15 percent of variance in children’s academic achievement outcomes are variants that relate to their school work o The challenge: How do we address these non-school factors so that classroom engagement and classroom learning can follow?
Primary partners are Tuscaloosa One Place, Holt Elementary, UA College of Education, UA Department of Kinesiology, and UA School of Social Work
